Part-time Senior Lecturer/Lecturer in Law Saweni Campus

Ref: SOL 01/11

The University of Fiji offers the LLB programme at the Suva and Saweni Campuses, and is offering a post-graduate programme in Law from 2011.

The University invites applications from dynamic and motivated individuals who would like to offer their services to the Law School on a part-time basis.

The appointee will be required to teach and coordinate the first year LLB courses at the Saweni campus, in particular in the subjects of Introduction to Law, Legal Methods and Research and Sociology of Law which are all compulsory papers in the introductory law programme.

Applicants must have a good first degree in law and must be familiar with internet-based research and scholarship. They must be interested in contributing to the Law School's cutting edge programmes and participating in staff/student seminars and mooted competitions. They will also be expected to contribute in their own specialist areas to the Law School's vibrant teaching and learning environment.

The Law School particularly invites applications from lawyers who are currently in legal practice, or have been in the past, and those who are interested in imparting their knowledge to our students. The Law School focuses its teaching methodology on face-to-face learning modes, development of theoretical/analytical perspectives in law, practical experience, and advocacy.

The successful applicant will be teaching in a collegial atmosphere with robust support provided by eminent teachers and researchers in the School of Law.
